Cloud Datacenter Review: 3 Years of Private Cloud Experience One of the prime growing companies of its time, Greenhost has been around for more than three years. Today they're the best provider of private cloud services. We compare Greenhost to other two major public cloud providers: Amazon Web Services (AWS) and Google Cloud Platform (GCP). To use the internet you need an account and login to a website. As already mentioned, you have a lot of websites to choose from. It would be great if we could log in automatically and have a nice experience when visiting the website. This is made possible using one of the most common login methods which works for many websites: the standard login form. This is what it looks like: Enter your email, password and click login. Login to your account. If you want to log in with a computer then you need to configure it to do this, otherwise your login information will be saved in your browser. The standard login settings are included in the software itself, but you can also change them to your liking. We will go over this login method in this article. Using The Login Form Most people will login to a website using the login form. You can use the login form with any website. It is possible to use it without a secure connection (HTTPS). To begin it, you need to go to the login form. On a secured connection, this means using https. You can select from your email address or from your Google Account. Both can be used to login. After entering your email address and password, you will be redirected to the login page. You can get redirected here when using the sign-in form. If you have selected an account from the sign-in page, then you can log in successfully. On the login page, you are allowed to configure your account. It might not be possible to configure the page depending on the website, but the login form
