Escape Room VR: Inner Voices is a free-to-play puzzle video game. Explore an eerie and twisted story revolving around a man named John, and his past. You will move from room to room, leaving clues behind and facing a lot of challenging puzzles. The game requires all parts. You will be playing as a prisoner in an insane asylum, and you will be controlling John. You can interact with John by tapping on him and by pressing his forehead with a finger. Unlike some of the Escape Room VR games, you are not locked into linear path – you will be exploring the rooms randomly generated by the game, and you will be making decisions and actions that may lead you into the future of your game, or into your game's past. To escape the asylum, you will be required to pick up objects in the room. You will always be facing the puzzle from a specific angle, and the object you need will be located behind you or above you. Use the object to escape the room, or move to another, similar room. published:14 Mar 2018 views:82568 BOOK YOUR TICKET NOW WE HEAD TO AUTUMN TRADE FESTIVAL A place to be with old friends and make new ones If you are a regular watcher of our website, you know how much we love SummerTrade. We love everything about it: all the people, the new products, the concerts and, of course, the wonderful Venue. But hey, you know how it goes ... we need to move on to the next summer. SummerTrade festival is great, but we also need to create new impressions and meet new people and we know you also agree on that. For that very reason, we have created a program where we enjoy the city and meet everyone here in a totally different and more intimate atmosphere. We have created this program with the autumn and in order to fill it, we need your help. We are sending you to the 5th AutumnTrade Fest with a party for all the attendees of the festival. We are inviting you to enjoy it with a nice party on Saturday the 6th of October, we are also inviting you to join us before and after, to get the most out of it! Don't hesitate to let us know if you are interested in attending the AutumnTrade event. FOR THOSE ATTENDING Registration and party/quest documents will be sent to your email address as soon as possible

Sample size {#Sec20} This study is an observational study and is aimed to give an overview of the spread of care in a large UK population using EMIS (CPRD), which is a well-established and validated database. The primary outcome of this study is discharge (from ED or ward) 'place'. In terms of the standard error of these estimates, the CPRD database is expected to have a size of approximately 15,000 patients per month, with an average of 6 patients being seen per hour. It is therefore expected that at least every other day will be represented in the CPRD database. Based on these assumptions, it is expected that a minimum of 90,000 patients will be seen in the study period. This is expected to give an estimate of approximately 11,500 discharges per month, with a CI of 11,100 to 11,900 per month. c9d1549cdd

One of the ways I like to think of Criterion's approach to the "clicker" genre of games is that they are very much permissive in terms of game mechanics, and incorporate quick game play that doesn't all be about hitting buttons. In this regard, after playing this game, I feel like I need to put out a quick rebuttal of this statement of "clickers" being played by players who can't learn to play anything else. For, this game is very accessible to non-players. The controls are simple to learn and have a natural rhythm to them that are easy to get down with. It is short and quick, yet still intricate. It has no loading screens which is always a welcome sight. I found that the game-play rhythm is very natural which kept me coming back to the game. Similar to the demo, there's a health meter in-game which had to be watched closely in order to keep yourself healthy (and alive). This game is not about health; it is a game about disease and it must be cured. I felt like the game is about the nature of "disease", the human condition and how we look to cure the problem, not about how many times you click on the colored bars. The story moves along, and at times is compelling, but it's merely a scaffolding or backdrop to the gameplay which drives the game. It's not the main focus or critical to the experience. You are constantly talking to yourself throughout the game, and your character, Patrick, is constantly talking to you about what he's thinking. This leads to the game taking on a deeper level of meaning beyond just "playing a game to see how many diseases you can get". It's complex and multifaceted, as it should be. It's hard to articulate what I mean but for me it had a very profound meaning in a way, that's difficult to put into words. I could go on about how much I liked this game and how much it took me down a very interesting path, and I would, but the short answer is that I would highly recommend you find the time to play it. It's good to play once, or twice, or a few times. I know I'll be back for more!10/10 Blog Cabin Games The theme is infectious, the story compelling, the mechanics an easy fit. It's an absolutely solid game with a lot to say. Truly a game you'll find yourself speaking of as a very personal experience.8/

Tour The Magnate Tour is an Australian concert tour by American rapper and singer Dizze Rascal, his third to the country following the European Labrinth Tour and the JLS tour. The Australian leg of the tour was announced on May 1, 2014, with the 28 shows officially announced on May 22, 2014. The tour will support his third studio album, The Magnificent (2014). The tour was originally announced as Dizze Rascal Band Tour, but on 25 February, it was changed to the Magnate Tour. On November 3, 2016, his record label distributed a press release announcing his fifth Australian tour, as well as re-branding it as a Dizze Rascal For Life tour. Overview On 2 September 2013, Dizze Rascal announced his third world concert tour, Magnate World Tour, to support his third studio album, The Magnificent. On June 24, 2014, it was announced through Dizze Rascal's Twitter account that the concert tour would cover Australia, New Zealand, and Europe as a part of his Take Off tour. The tour started on 1 November 2014. The Magnate Tour includes 28 shows in Australia. During the first week of shows in Perth Arena, 20,000 people were in attendance. The full video of Dizze Rascal's performance in the Stereo Geysers Defcon 2 Studios in South Australia was released on Thursday 16 November 2014. The Magnate Tour performance at Perth Arena was released on Dizze Rascal's Twitter page and audio player on 21 February 2015. Critical reception Despite announcing the European and Australian legs in May, Dizze Rascal's Fanclub released the free "The Sound of Reality" EP via digital download on 5 June. The EP includes "The Sound of Reality," "Speakerphone" and "Dreams Never End," the three songs of the "Don't Matter What They Say" Tour EP, plus "Don't Speak". All three songs, excluding "Don't Speak," were recorded between February and April during the same sessions that produced The Magnificent. The Australian shows of the Magnate World Tour have received generally positive reviews. The opening show of the concerts was criticised due to a tragic collision involving a tram and people attending the show and then a tidal wave washing over the crowd. 3 News Live presenter Kyle Sand
