A technique has been developed to quantify the kinetics of label-retaining cells in bone marrow following bone marrow transplantation. Bone marrow cells are harvested and stained with fluorochrome-labeled anti-thymocyte monoclonal antibodies (MoAb) in vitro, then washed and suspended in a DNA stain and reconstituted in mice containing BrdU (bromodeoxyuridine) in drinking water. After labeling, the mice are killed and cells from the bone marrow, blood, and spleen are harvested, stained for surface markers, and analyzed by flow cytometry (FCM). OTHER - Prologue The hot summer was invading the cool night as the fireflies light up the plain, the clear night sky was filled with stars and moon...it was a beautiful night. Music was played from the lively town. A man wearing a long cotton shirt and dark pants walked slowly and quietly, the moonlight gleamed on his face as he was going towards the house. He felt something touching his hand but he did not pull his hand back. The stranger turned around and looked into the stranger's eyes. The stranger's eyes were shining and calm. The man whose eyes were shining showed the information. The name of the stranger was an unknown person, his appearance had a detailed description and his way of life was taken down like a diary. Where would this unknown person be going to? Why did he hope? These were questions which couldn't be answered. The stranger had no idea about all of that. The only hope the stranger had was his sword. He walked further on. The stranger's sword was like a shell which completely protects the warrior inside. In this case, the man had to fight a strange enemy. THE NEW FANTASY ACTION RPG. Rise, Tarnished, and
