Reply Sign in to Subscribe.The Boise State football team is in the same boat as all of the rest of us in the sports world right now. The BCS does not put as much emphasis on this season as they did on many of the others that ended with those teams never being able to go on to the playoffs. With the exception of the undefeated Oklahoma Sooners who are ranked No. 1 in the BCS (go figure) and Alabama, which has two losses against teams ranked lower than it in the BCS (go figure), there are no teams in the top four that are going to make it to the playoffs. But what of the other BCS teams? Are there any possibilities for them to make the playoffs? Out of the teams ranked lower than the undefeated Sooners, there isn't much hope for them. Ohio State and Notre Dame have the two best teams in the country and are both undefeated, but Oregon is projected by Yahoo! sports to win the PAC-12 and is currently third in the BCS standings and the other undefeated team in the BCS, Kansas State, is just a few spots behind Oregon. The best Pac-12 team, Stanford, has lost to both of them in back-to-back games. There are no other Pac-12 teams ranked in the top seven that look like they have a chance to make the playoffs. Georgia, Auburn and LSU have all lost one game and they're all behind Oregon in the rankings. Clemson and Mississippi State are each playing one of the best SEC defenses this year (Clemson has held teams to seven and Mississippi State to eight) and they look to be the favorites to win their respective conferences. The Pac-12 has the best team with a loss in conference play, but they could easily be the SEC West (yes, West, not Division-1) favorites. It would not be surprising if either of those

"I think a lot of people in Congress are probably starting to take it seriously, and want something like that to happen. They just have a real frustration with the status quo," Musk said of the NASA ISS program in an interview with Bloomberg News. "There are many people in Congress who are saying, 'Hey, we want the next president to be somebody who will do more than just build infrastructure. I want that person to think different, take chances, and do crazy stuff.' " Musk's interest in commercial spaceflight comes as NASA is planning to phase out the International Space Station and replace it with a private commercial
