So I've been messing with Bootstrap for a while, and I've gotten many of the little issues I've come across fixed, but this one continues to irritate me. I have a basic navbar with a menu item for "Home" and a paragraph of text. The Home navbar is supposed to display above the navbar that would normally be found on a page's default navbar. My problem is that I've tried to put the navbar within a nav tag, which makes it work, but if I move the navbar to the top, it appears under the navbar, but within my body tag, which is much lower and below the navbar. I'd really appreciate help with this issue. Homepage
