Claire Danes has shared her inspiring thoughts on her impeccable fashion choices throughout her career, as she feels she never forgot her roots as a model. "It's fun to feel like you get to wear what you want,"

Claire, who turns 42 this week, told Allure magazine when asked about her youthful look. "I live in California, and we have access to really unique labels. When you're working on your own, what you wear has to really become your own. It becomes part of your image, and you can't ask for a more personal and colorful outfit than that." Claire has led a colourful life – and does not limit that to her wardrobe. In the interview, she revealed that she is a proud heiress to a Native American pedigree, having a great-great-grandmother who was a war chief. Her aunt is also of Native American heritage, and she has a great uncle who fought in the Vietnam War. She discussed how she always chooses classic, refined styles. "I'm really drawn to crisp, clean shapes. I know that if I did wear bright colors, it would distort what my character is. Claire said her style has stayed constant over the years – and she feels her fashion choices have helped her career as a dramatic actress. "When I was growing up, I was very conscious of wanting to wear clothes that were very chic and ladylike – and that translates so well into acting," she said. "I feel like I have a very recognizable look that stands out in auditions. 648931e174

According to Boston 25 News, the gang of thieves held the ice cream truck driver and his two female family members at gunpoint and took everything that was of value. Once they had unloaded the truck, they took the cash register and $30 from a safe in the back. The gang took their loot and drove away, heading towards Dorchester. "They're robbing ice cream trucks more frequently," says Boston Police Superintendent-in-Chief William Evans. "There's another ice cream truck in Roxbury, and there's another one in Dorchester. I don't know whether they get them all the time or if they find them on the street. But we're going to remain vigilant." Charming the Ice Cream Truck This is far from the first time a robbery like this has happened, but it is the first time it happened in Boston. "The first one I remember was in the early 90s.

It was a guy dressed in a white turban and a yellow shirt," says Robert Lindberg, owner of Charming the Ice Cream Truck. "But it just seems like the population is changing." At this time in 2019, Lindberg doesn't see why a gang would attack an ice cream truck. However, he is aware that these robberies are more prevalent in Boston than they
