What's new:

1 2 What is Samarah going to say about this test? There is no way this tanker can be neutralized. clarent: Warlord feat from Method, Serah: You have -3 to declare move actions. rolls to buy: 1 (focus dmg 2 and combat cards 3..) The tank just takes a damage and the Defend ability saved the tank from 9 focus dmg, and 4 combat cards Optimus: 2 (* 2 and 3..). I am in the boat and i win. In this game the tank will keep being the only tank. First they talk that it is a tanker. And be part of a force with much higher tier chances from unit placement. And it is in desert, one of the worst environments. The Carrier is now the Only tank that cannot die, so... what the hell do you think will happen? And clarent already said something about the roles he will fit. Tank is for free. I would not do that, especially not when you had a mill for what your tank was supposed to do. The only thing worse than buying a tank is buying a tank, then depending on the situation, having your summoner swarm. What a waste of a bullet. Method: I m very happy to see that. I may have been a bit biased because of Eras Ranger (I had my phone full with Theme and Energy when the strategy testing committee opened the tests so they ask me to do this now for the Panzer class. I just do whatever I can to help the Industry). But anyway, a good lead that one. About the tank 1 way: I did not know that the AA was so important (but I was right about the Defend card as well). I would have gone with a Heavy 2 since my goal is destroy Seraphim in one pass. Log for rerolls: too bad, but I had too many E series on the table. The Order: You have the Order of the Gun from Tier 1. You have -3 to declare move actions. The Defender: You have the Defender from Tier 1. You have Combat cards and a camera. You have -3 combat action priority. reworded under another type in your list of combat items this is the last one I would try to use. I see how it is a very strong effect, but too expensive. I would only think that it would be useful

Plunder is a single player, action-adventure, role playing game (RPG) set in the future (2021ish) on the high seas. Because there are no gender-specific options, play it as your lonesome self if you'd like, or play with your friends. There are no cutscene rewinds to break the immersion of playing the game. In this world, players fight on the side of either the Royal Navy or the Pirate Fleet, both with their own sets of objectives and various characters. Pirates are typically ranged attackers, while the Royal Navy is the traditional force that slaughters you on sight. As a Pirate, if you do not support the "murder and pillage" motto, then you are considered a traitor. Each island has its own unique story driven quests and bosses, and each boss has its own unique behaviors that alter the way that your fight with it goes. The majority of islands can be reached by boat, however some are traversed on foot, and some require jumping on vines to reach their ideal spot for an ambush. This island hopping can be a bit tiring on the body, and so players are encouraged to pace themselves in the long-term (obviously not during boss fights). A dynamic weather and seasons will occasionally alter the gameplay with wind direction, rain storm, and snowfall. One of the greatest things about the world and its gameplay is the freedom that it grants the player. There are no magic spells or ultimate abilities to restrict the role that you can play in the world of Plunder. You are always in control of what you do, and no matter the choice you make, it will always lead you in the right direction. Enjoy!

Gameplay Features: A real-time, action-RPG that will take you on many of the top-notch features of RPGs, such as leveling up, skills, crafting, and ship upgrades. Roleplaying as one of 7 playable main characters with unique personalities and backgrounds. A variety of over 20 sub-classes that allow you to focus your own approach to combat and adventure. Unique, hand-crafted environments and settings. Many islands to explore with various bosses, questlines, and activities. Dynamic weather and seasons. A story-driven experience that will tell you what happens next. A great and dynamic world with various options for combat and navigation. Various charming seaside towns filled with merchants
