Debian 8.7.0 - 64 bit Why Can't I See Any Posts By Content Author? A: First thing, go back to the main page of the forum, and click on the link that appears in red, with two arrows pointing down. Now, click the link just below the navigation bar. Here is a screenshot of what it looks like: That is your link for logging in. Enter your User Name and Password, and click Sign In. You can also login directly to your account by entering the following address into your browser, replacing your username with your one: If you are familiar with phpBB, then you can see that the login page goes to an area that looks like this: There is the Username, Password, and Log In buttons right above your ip address. There is a secret forum where we can see all the topics you create as well, which we will get to later. Now, click the "Create New Topic" button and type in any topic you want to create, then press the "Create Topic" button. You should receive a notification telling you to click "OK" to approve the topic. This is where the secret forum is at. Click the link below the button "Quick Jump" on the top of your browser, that leads you to where the posts are stored, and you can see all your posts here. This is my secret forum, so it's not exactly secret! Click "Quick Jump" again, and you should see this list of topics here. NOTE: I haven't talked about my profile page yet, but it is similar to the secret page we just looked at. Click the Profile button, and you will be taken to your home page. Click on your picture and under your picture, you should see your posts. Click on the green arrow icon at the right side of your name, and you should be able to see all of your post here. Now, log off from your current account, and log into your account, and you should have your posts here. EDIT: Forgot to say, you can see your badges, your titles, etc by clicking on your username on the left column (Forum, Profile, etc), and then you will see a picture of a guy and a girl. Underneath you
