The festival will open on March 13 and will be hosted by 45th Guinean president Alpha Conde and French Minister of Culture, Culture and Communication, Frédéric Mitterrand. Condé said, "China is a key market in the world and French films are an important pillar of French cinema in China. This film festival bings together Chinese and French talents to share experiences and to promote bilateral co-production between the two countries, The festival aims to promote the culture of climenatographic innovation, a major focus of the presidency of Condé. The closing ceremony of the festival will be held in front of the Eiffel Tower on March 18. "In the past 15 years of collaboration between the two countries, China's film industry has played a significant role in the
