Q: Best way to get a user's currently playing music from Applescript? I'm working on an Applescript that will allow a user to easily play their currently playing song via using the playpause key on their keyboard or sending text messages from their device. I'm looking for the best way to get the name of the currently playing music of the currently logged in user. From searching forums, it seems everyone wants to use System Events or AppleScript to accomplish this, and I have no knowledge of either. A little background, I've already accomplished playing a song from a URL, however, I'm not able to easily control the user's music and more importantly, learn the currently playing song. A: AppleScript tell application "System Events" display dialog "Listing Music" set musicList to (get name of every track of (every MIDI file whose kind is "song")) repeat with anItem

in musicList set currentTrack to anItem as text set currentTrackPos to currentTrack's position end repeat if currentTrackPos is 0 then exit repeat end if set currentTrackPos to currentTrackPos - 1 set firstTrack to currentTrackPos + 1 repeat try tell application "System Events" key code 123 using command down end tell
