Because of this activity, we'd love to make a small gift in memory of the old and the young. And if this is a great honour to be named, it's even greater, when we think of the 15 people who died in this city, on this day [,] in this mosque, and in this hospital. I want to be the first to express [my] sincere condolences and condolences to the families and the Muslim community. This is the beginning of a new chapter and we will honour and respect the memory of those who died in this event, and will never forget them. The Islamist movement that I belong to opposes terrorism in all its forms and whoever commits an act of terror will not go unpunished. The murder of the dozens, as the media have been calling this attack, I call this a cowardly attack on defenseless people. May God give strength to the families and the wounded. I am sure this example will [only] make us stronger and more united in our determination to fight and eradicate the scourge of terrorism. Warming up the disabled children who stay in the hospital to pass the time, to look after their safety. We warm up the children, pushing the wheelchairs. [...] We thank everyone for their concern. We warm up the children who stay in the hospital to pass the time, to look after their safety. We warm up the disabled children because they are the young people, the future of our country. How can we fight terrorism? The first and foremost thing is to win the war against drugs. [...] Ke the warming the warming the warming to be people who are eager to fight terrorism. They are ready to dedicate themselves to this fight. They are used to the situation, they do not feel fear, they do not feel fear, they do not feel anxious. They are calm, but they are waiting for more information so that they can act. [...] [You are] a symbol of courage, fighting terrorists I am honoured to be named Dolphineer of the Fight Against Terror. I am honoured to be named Dolphineer of the Eagly and Terror.
